Technology

Technology is the cornerstone for ensuring on-time deliveries, managing route logistics and controlling costs. Our enterprise management software combines with mobile hand-held devices and web-based access to deliver on all fronts.

End-to-End Integrated Process

Control starts with enterprise transportation software that integrates all functions and services of your end-to-end transportation process. From the executive office to asset management to the back office, it provides the controls needed to optimize your operation.

- order entry
- visual dispatch
- rating
- invoicing and settlements
- maintenance
- accounting
- real-time management reporting

Real-Time Integrated Interface

Our mobile solution is easy to implement and scalable for any sized fleet because it's designed to run on GPS-enabled wireless phones. It connects the dispatch system to the drivers for efficient load assignments and trip schedules. And it allows dispatchers to view GPS location data to track delivery progress.

- mobile dispatch
- voice, data and text
- automatic vehicle location (AVL)
- sign on glass (SOG)
- pop-up driver prompts
- advance shipment notice

Real-Time Integrated Access

With web-based access, you have online self-service for submitting orders, sending RFQs, order status and tracking information. It also delivers a powerful reporting engine that enables comprehensive access to your logistics data.

- secure connection
- new order entry
- load tracking
- administration tools
- scheduled reports

"PTG Logistics has played an integral part in our distribution program. They have an excellent record of on-time deliveries and are proactive in looking for ways to enhance our bottom line."

"PTG Logistics has invested the time to learn our business and use that knowledge to continually improve its service and reduce costs."
